TSTC Auto Collision Program Receives Grant from Nationwide Foundation

(WACO) - Texas State Technical College's Auto Collision and Management Technology program commemorated on Tuesday, March 28, a $5,000 grant received from the Nationwide Foundation, the philanthropic arm of Ohio-based Nationwide Insurance. Some of the new equipment the program received include three solid rivet kits, three hydraulic pumps, an electronic torque wrench and pliers. Pictured left to right are Kevon Kleibrink, lead instructor for the Auto Collision and Management Technology program in Waco; Clint Campbell, statewide Auto Collision and Management Technology chair and Matt Pietrowicz, a materials damage technical office business consultant for Nationwide Insurance in Columbus, Ohio.
